NET ATELIER

PROJECT RECORDS FOR INTERIOR DESIGNERS

Keep paperwork from taking the time your project needs.

When client choices change, spend less time catching up on documents and more time keeping the work moving toward its dates.

1

Change once, anywhere. No repetitive work.

Change a selection once and the budget, the draft proposal, the draft order and the draft invoice follow it. There is no second pass over the project after each client decision.

2

See all billables, margin, profit, and more.

See what has been billed against what it has cost while the project runs, so a gap shows up while there is still time to do something about it.

3

Export the whole project in about 30 seconds.

Take the project out of Net Atelier when you need it somewhere else, without rebuilding it first.

Start with the project that has had the most recent client change.
