PROJECT RECORDS FOR INTERIOR DESIGNERS

When the brief changes, keep the project coherent.

Every client decision lands in one place, so a revised choice does not leave you hunting for which document still needs attention.

1

Change once, anywhere. No repetitive work.

Change a selection and the budget, the draft proposal, the draft order and the draft invoice all reflect what the client has chosen now, not an earlier version of it.

2

Instantly import product details from web pages.

Copy a product link from a supplier's page and paste it into Net Atelier. The detail and the image stay with the selection, so a one-off item keeps the context you found it in.

3

Take the project into Excel when you need it.

Send the project to Excel when you want to review it the way your studio already works.

Use the project with the most revised brief as your first example.
